

OH, YOU PANTALON GOWN!

The real, white hot, sizzling, quivering Parisian sensation, the newest and most startling of the ever changing, ever exaggerated Paris styles—in other words, the much talked of Pantalon gown is to be introduced in Bridgeport by a real live model. This is not an "ad" for a dry goods house either, for Miss Alice Fleming, the popular leading woman at Poli's is to wear the divided skirt in her portrayal of "Zaza" next week.

Miss Fleming stars in the famous Belasco production next week and the actress is to wear the Pantalon gown on the stage. It will be recalled that a season ago Miss Fleming caused something of a furore by introducing the then new sheath gown in her portrayal of "Zaza". The Pantalon gown while built along radically different lines is as much a novelty and sensation if not more so than the sheath.

Miss Alice Fleming, Who Will Introduce the "Pantalon Gown" at Poli's

The gown is much the same as any lately introduced dress save at the skirt bottom which is divided both front and back. The skirt flares away on either side giving something of the effect of a pair of trousers. Several copies of the gown were sent to New York from Paris recently and some of them displayed on wax figures in show windows. Miss Fleming's exhibition will be the first public showing of the gown on a live figure it is said.

There is little doubt that great interest will be caused by the Pantalon gown when Miss Fleming dons it on next Monday's matinee and during the succeeding performances of the week. It was said at the box office to-day that no extra price of admission would be levied because of the Pantalon attraction.

MAGNETIC HARRIMAN'S SON ENTERS YALE NEXT FALL

(Special from United Press.) New Haven, July 3.—Among the long list of young men who have passed the entrance examinations to Yale and who will enter that institution as students next fall, is that of William A. Harriman, son of the railroad magnate, E. H. Harriman. Young Harriman graduated this week from a preparatory school at Groton, Mass.

A bed bug in my bed would make me leave the best room I ever had. It would prove to me that ordinary cleanliness was lacking and carelessness in this respect would show carelessness in others, in other words that I had struck the wrong place and my pride and self-respect would suffer if I remained. Cyrus' Presto Killer for bedbugs would have cleaned that bed, only 25c.

ERRORS WERE INEXCUSABLE

O'Rourke's Second Baseman Was All to the Bad and Hartford Profited Thereby.

(Hartford Courant.) Everything was in accord yesterday and things broke right for our boys. Bridgeport sent out one drive around the circuit. Hi Ladd opened the second inning with a two base hit and went to third on Miller's out at first. McKenna sent a sacrifice fly to Flournoy and Ladd came home. The only other time that Bridgeport was in distance of scoring was in the seventh, when Ladd walked. Abrogast threw to Wanner who covered first, in order to catch Hi off the bag but the throw was wide and Ladd reached second. Miller sacrificed him to third but Fisher gathered in McKenna's drive and Bourquin fouled out to Metzger. With two gone in the eighth, Steinhauer got a hit and the only other bing was one by Miller in the ninth, with two gone, when Metzger made a hard stop but did not recover in time to make a good throw.

Bridgeport held the lead until the fifth, when Abrogast hit for three bases. Fisher was given four balls. Flournoy hit to the infield and when the ball was tossed to Bourquin, the second baseman neglected to get second base and Fisher was safe. This filled the bases with none out. Wanner flew out to Ladd and Abrogast scored. Hart hit to Hill, and Fisher was thrown out at the plate. Second base was uncovered and Hart ran down. The ball was thrown to Bourquin who dropped it, and Flournoy scored. Hart was caught after the run came in.

With two out in the seventh, Flournoy and Wanner hit safely and an error of Bannan's allowed Wanner to get to second and Flournoy to third. Nolte passed Hart, but Red McKenna fooled him by throwing to Bourquin, a pretty one that scored Flournoy and Wanner. Connery ended the inning by sending a fly to Ladd. The score:

BETTING ODDS ON HARVARD IN GAME WITH YALE TODAY

(Special from United Press.) New York, July 3.—The Yale Bulldog has been licked by Harvard on the gridiron, on the track and on the river. But the Yale Bulldog has staying qualities and will never admit defeat. Harvard men, flush with coin from their victories of the past are offering 3 to 2 that the Harvard nine will defeat Yale's team in the deciding game of the 1909 series at the Polo Grounds this afternoon. Yale's men are taking the bets with an alarming frequency. The two teams have met twice this year. In the first game, played at Cambridge, where all the rooting was for the Crimson of Harvard, Yale's doughty sons forced the tie and the score was 3 to 2. At New Haven last Thursday the Bulldogs won by 4 to 0.

New York was captured by the college men to-day the Crimson of Harvard the Blue of Yale appearing everywhere. As Saturday is practically a holiday, it is believed a record breaking crowd will witness the game. With the exception of a lapse of one year Yale and Harvard have played these games since 1868. Up to date Yale has won 56 and Harvard 55. Harvard has won 56 and Yale 55.

10 TO 4 THAT KETCHELL BEATS PAPKE MONDAY

(Special from United Press.) San Francisco, July 3.—Despite the complaint made by many of Stanley Ketchell's friends that he has not trained as seriously for his battle Monday with Billy Papke as he might, he looked in great shape today when he knocked off hard work and began to take it easy. Papke also has eased up on his training. Ketchell remains a 10 to 4 favorite, though not a great deal of money has been wagered on the fight.

Hartford Senator Votes Against Corporation Tax, But Measure Is Adopted by Senate, 45 to 31.

Washington, July 3.—After an afternoon spent in bitter wrangling over the parliamentary status of the corporation tax amendment Senator Aldrich finally smoothed the way for a vote just before the hour for adjournment yesterday. The corporation tax was adopted as a substitute for the Bailey-Cummins income levy by a vote of 45 to 31—seven Republicans and all the Democrats opposing the substitution. Then the final vote incorporating the tax amendment into the Tariff Bill was carried by a vote of 60 to 11. Three Democrats and eleven Republicans voted against the final acceptance of the President's compromise.

Of the eleven negative votes eight were cast by Republicans and three by Democrats. The Republicans being Borah, Bristow, Bulkeley, Clapp, Cummins, Dilliver, Heyburn, and La Follette; and the Democrats, Chamberlain, Hughes, and Shively.

The Connecticut Senators were divided on both votes, Brandegee favoring and Bulkeley opposing.

(Special from United Press.) Washington, July 3.—President Taft will leave here this evening to take his family to Beverly, Mass., for the summer, and after that duty is done, to assist New England and New York in celebrating a few hundred years of their life and prosperity. The chief celebrations will take place at Norwich, Conn., and the larger cities bordering on Lake Champlain. Boston bound Federal express on the Pennsylvania railroad. His private car, Mayflower, will be attached to the regular passenger train. He is due to reach Beverly at about 9 o'clock Sunday morning, and will at once go to the Evans cottage on Salem bay, which is now ready for its occupant. Several White House servants were sent to the cottage two or three days ago, and when Mr. and Mrs. Taft and their children arrive, they will in all likelihood, find everything homelike and comfortable for the President's eldest son will join the family at Beverly.

The President will leave Beverly for Norwich late Sunday evening, and will spend most of the fifth celebrating the Fourth and the 250th anniversary of the town's foundation. On the evening of the fifth he will again take the train, this time for Ticonderoga, at the foot of Lake Champlain, where the first of the tri-centennial celebration will be held. From Ticonderoga the President will proceed to Plattsburgh, N. Y., and make his headquarters there and at Hotel Champlain during the sixth and seventh. Most of the eighth of July will be spent by the President at Burlington, Vt., and if his plans are carried out, he will be back in Washington on the afternoon of the ninth.

The celebrations by the New York and Vermont cities are to commemorate the anniversary of the discovery of Lake Champlain, by the man whose name it bears. There are only about twenty-five suits in the collection—prompt action on your part will make one of them yours. Just note the exceptionally low price quotation in our advertisement—then stop in and see the suits. We celebrate our Fourth on Monday, the fifth—the store will be closed all day. Winsted Railroad Man Rounds Out 50 Years

Winsted, July 3.—Nick Best, veteran station agent at Millerton, N. Y., will have rounded out 50 years of continuous service with the New York Central railroad on Sunday. He began work at the Harlem station, just across the State line, July 4, 1859, and has been there ever since.
When Best entered railroad life there were no telegraph lines and trains ran to what now is the site of Madison Square Garden, in New York city, the fastest train making the trip sometimes in four and one-half hours. Locomotives have grown to about four times their size then. Freight cars carried only eight to ten tons. Passenger cars seated twenty-six persons. They were lighted by candles and heated by wood stoves. Locomotives burned wood and hauled about ten cars. They were only two passenger trains a day, but passengers could go by freight if they chose.
